Vanguard ESG Global Corporate Bond UCITS ETF

Managed by Vanguard Global Advisers, LLC.

Investment Objective

Vanguard ESG Global Corporate Bond UCITS ETF seeks to track the performance of the Bloomberg MSCI Global Corporate Float-Adjusted Liquid Bond Screened Index, a multi-currency universe index of investment-grade corporate fixed-rate bonds from both developed and emerging markets.

Performance Summary

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Global financial markets posted gains for the six months ended 31 December 2024, even as volatility picked up in the second half of the period.
- With inflation generally trending lower, a number of Western central banks turned more accommodative. The European Central Bank had begun to cut short-term interest rates just before the period under review. The Bank of England started doing the same in August, and the US Federal Reserve did so in September.
- Investor sentiment was dented at times by economic reports of slow or stalled progress on curbing inflation and the prospect of fewer US rate cuts than had been anticipated. The macroeconomic backdrop, however, remained supportive of growth, and the global economy continued to expand.
- Global bonds finished the period higher despite headwinds in October and December.
- The ETF's benchmark index returned 3.45% for the six months.
- By country, the United States, which has the largest weighting in the index, underperformed the index as a whole. Other index heavyweights, including Germany, France and Canada, outperformed.
- By sector, bonds issued by financial institutions returned more than those issued by industrial companies and utilities.
- By credit quality, bonds on the bottom rung of the investment-grade ladder returned more than their higher-rated counterparts. And by maturity, results were mixed.

Benchmark returns in the commentary above are in US dollars.

Returns are based on NAV with income reinvested.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <https://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

Vanguard ESG USD Corporate Bond UCITS ETF

Managed by Vanguard Global Advisers, LLC.

Investment Objective

Vanguard ESG USD Corporate Bond UCITS ETF seeks to track the performance of the Bloomberg MSCI USD Corporate Float-Adjusted Liquid Bond Screened Index, a USD denominated universe of investment grade corporate fixed-rate bonds.

Performance Summary

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Global financial markets posted gains for the six months ended 31 December 2024, even as volatility picked up in the second half of the period.
- With inflation generally trending lower, a number of Western central banks turned more accommodative. The European Central Bank had begun to cut short-term interest rates just before the period under review. The Bank of England started doing the same in August, and the US Federal Reserve did so in September.
- Investor sentiment was dented at times by economic reports of slow or stalled progress on curbing inflation and the prospect of fewer US rate cuts than had been anticipated. The macroeconomic backdrop, however, remained supportive of growth, and the global economy continued to expand.
- Global stocks finished the period up 5.67%, as measured by the FTSE Global All Cap Index in US dollars. By region, US stocks outperformed, with the prospect of corporate tax cuts and deregulation under the next administration buoying market sentiment towards year-end.
- Global bonds returned 1.52%, as measured by the Bloomberg Global Aggregate Index in US dollars on an unhedged basis.
- The ETF's benchmark index returned 2.49% for the six months.
- By country, the United States, which has the largest weighting in the index, slightly underperformed the index as a whole. Among other countries with large weightings in the index, Spain, Australia and Japan outperformed.
- By sector, bonds issued by financial institutions returned more than those issued by industrial companies and utilities.
- By credit quality, bonds on the bottom rung of the investment-grade ladder returned more than their higher-rated counterparts. By maturity, shorter-dated bonds performed best.

Benchmark returns in the commentary above are in US dollars.

Returns are based on NAV with income reinvested.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <https://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

The Central Bank of Ireland requires a schedule of material changes in the composition of the portfolio during the period. These are defined as aggregate purchases of a security exceeding 1% of the total value of purchases for the period and aggregate disposals greater than 1% of the total value of sales. At a minimum, the largest 20 purchases and 20 sales must be shown; all purchases and sales must be shown if there are fewer than 20. Vanguard EUR Corporate Bond UCITS ETF

Managed by Vanguard Global Advisers, LLC.

Investment Objective

Vanguard EUR Corporate Bond UCITS ETF seeks to track the performance of the Bloomberg Euro-Aggregate: Corporates Index, a widely recognised benchmark designed to reflect the total universe of publicly traded, fixed-coupon, euro-denominated, investment-grade corporate bonds with maturities greater than 1 year and a minimum issue size of €300 million.

Performance Summary

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Global financial markets posted gains for the six months ended 31 December 2024, even as volatility picked up in the second half of the period.
- With inflation generally trending lower, a number of Western central banks turned more accommodative. The European Central Bank had begun to cut short-term interest rates just before the period under review. The Bank of England started doing the same in August, and the US Federal Reserve did so in September.
- Investor sentiment was dented at times by economic reports of slow or stalled progress on curbing inflation and the prospect of fewer US rate cuts than had been anticipated. The macroeconomic backdrop, however, remained supportive of growth, and the global economy continued to expand.
- Global bonds finished the period higher despite headwinds in October and December.
- The ETF's benchmark returned 4.17% for the six-month period.
- Among the largest markets in the index, Italy, Sweden and Germany outperformed. Among the underperformers were Spain, the United States and Switzerland.
- By sector, bonds issued by financial institutions and utility companies returned more than those issued by industrial companies.
- By credit quality, bonds on the bottom rung of the investment-grade ladder returned more than their higher-rated counterparts. And by maturity, longer-dated bonds generally returned more than shorter-dated ones.

Benchmark returns in the commentary above are in euros.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <https://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

Vanguard EUR Eurozone Government Bond UCITS ETF

Managed by Vanguard Global Advisers, LLC.

Investment Objective

Vanguard EUR Eurozone Government Bond UCITS ETF seeks to track the performance of the Bloomberg Euro-Aggregate: Treasury Index, a widely recognised benchmark designed to reflect the total universe of publicly traded, fixed-coupon, euro-denominated euro zone treasury securities with maturities greater than 1 year and a minimum issue size of €300 million.

Performance Summary

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Global financial markets posted gains for the six months ended 31 December 2024, even as volatility picked up in the second half of the period.
- With inflation generally trending lower, a number of Western central banks turned more accommodative. The European Central Bank had begun to cut short-term interest rates just before the period under review. The Bank of England started doing the same in August, and the US Federal Reserve did so in September.
- Investor sentiment was dented at times by economic reports of slow or stalled progress on curbing inflation and by the prospect of fewer US rate cuts than had been anticipated. The macroeconomic backdrop, however, remained supportive of growth, and the global economy continued to expand.
- Global bonds finished the period higher despite headwinds in October and December. In this environment, the ETF's benchmark returned 3.92% for the six months.
- All countries in the index posted positive returns for the period. Italy, the second-highest weighting in the index, posted the highest return.
- By maturity, longer-term bonds generally did better. By credit quality, returns were higher for lower-rated issues.

Benchmark returns in the commentary above are in euros.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <https://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

Managed by Vanguard Global Advisers, LLC.

Investment Objective

Vanguard Global Aggregate Bond UCITS ETF seeks to track the performance of the Bloomberg Global Aggregate Float Adjusted and Scaled Index, a widely recognised benchmark designed to reflect the characteristics of the global aggregate bond universe.

Performance Summary

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Global financial markets posted gains for the six months ended 31 December 2024, even as volatility picked up in the second half of the period.
- With inflation generally trending lower, a number of Western central banks turned more accommodative. The European Central Bank had begun to cut short-term interest rates just before the period under review. The Bank of England started doing the same in August, and the US Federal Reserve did so in September.
- Investor sentiment was dented at times by economic reports of slow or stalled progress on curbing inflation and the prospect of fewer US rate cuts than had been anticipated. The macroeconomic backdrop, however, remained supportive of growth, and the global economy continued to expand.
- Global bonds finished the period higher despite headwinds in October and December. In this environment, the ETF's benchmark index returned 3.05% for the six-month period.
- Countries in the benchmark posted mostly positive returns. The US, the largest constituent in the index by far, returned roughly 2%, which was lower than the index's overall return.
- Treasuries, which comprised more than 55% of the index's weighting, modestly lagged the returns of most other sectors.
- Performance was mixed by maturity and credit quality. Maturities in the 10- to 15-year range performed best, followed by those under 5 years. Meanwhile, the lowest-quality issues in the index had the highest returns, followed by those with the highest credit quality.

Benchmark returns in the commentary above are in US dollars.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <https://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.

Investment Objective

Vanguard U.K. Gilt UCITS ETF seeks to track the performance of the Bloomberg Sterling Gilt Float Adjusted Index, a market-weighted index of UK government fixed income securities denominated in pound sterling.

Performance Summary

The Performance Summary does not form part of the Financial Statements.

- Global financial markets posted gains for the six months ended 31 December 2024, even as volatility picked up in the second half of the period.
- With inflation generally trending lower, a number of Western central banks turned more accommodative. The European Central Bank had begun to cut short-term interest rates just before the period under review. The Bank of England started doing the same in August, and the US Federal Reserve did so in September.
- Investor sentiment was dented at times by economic reports of slow or stalled progress on curbing inflation and the prospect of fewer US rate cuts than had been anticipated. The macroeconomic backdrop, however, remained supportive of growth, and the global economy continued to expand.
- Global bonds finished the period higher despite headwinds in October and December.
- The ETF's benchmark index returned -1.26% for the six months.
- The UK Consumer Prices Index fell from 2.0% in June to 1.7% in September, but then edged a little higher in October and November. With the economy slowing, the Bank of England began loosening monetary policy with an initial rate cut in August and a second one in November, leaving the policy rate at 4.75% at year-end.
- Short-dated gilts generally fared best, with those maturing in less than 10 years returning about 1% and those maturing in 25 years or more returning about -5.7% .
- As a whole, gilts didn't hold up as well as the broad UK investment-grade bond market.

All of the returns in this report represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results that may be achieved by the fund. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, which may be higher or lower than that cited, visit our website at <https://global.vanguard.com>. Note, too, that both investment returns and principal value can fluctuate widely, so an investor's shares, when sold, could be worth more or less than their original cost.

* The tracking difference between the fund return and the index return over a stated period of time can be attributed to a number of factors, including, without limitation, small differences in weightings, trading activity, transaction costs and differences in the valuation and withholding tax treatment between the fund and the index vendor.
